EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Food Standards Code (Adoption) Regulation 1989 adopted (with certain modifications) the Food Standards Code of the National Health and Medical Research Council.

The object of this Regulation is to amend that Regulation so as to adopt certain amendments (relating mainly to information to be provided in respect of food for sale, and to the print size in which that information must be displayed) to that Code which were published in the Commonwealth of Australia Gazette No. P 12 on 17 May 1991.

The amendments to Standard C1 of the Code made by that publication are not adopted as the Standard itself has not been adopted in New South Wales.
